A Long Debate Over the Ears of the Legislation

In the House of Representatives, Thursday, July 12th, the resolutions that the Senate had laid before the Assembly, were read, and ordered to a committee of the whole House of Representatives, to be acted upon. The report of the Committee on Etymology and the Senate's resolutions was also received, and ordered to be printed, and printed. The Assembly then proceeded to the consideration of the Senate's resolutions, which were read a second time, and ordered to a committee of the whole House of Representatives, to be acted upon. The Senate's resolutions were then read a third time, and ordered to be printed. The Assembly then adjourned to meet on Friday, July 13th, at 10 o'clock. The Senate's resolutions were then read a fourth time, and ordered to be printed. The Assembly then adjourned to meet on Saturday, July 14th, at 10 o'clock.
Morning Oregonian,
July 12, 1889, at 1