STATE OF WASHINGTON.

Central on the Oregon and Northern Route of Land.

King County Wants 400,000 Acres

TACOMA, July 24.—The King County wants 400,000 acres of land for a new county, and the matter is now before the legislature.

The King County is now divided into four counties, and the county seats are located at four different points. The new county would be formed by the consolidation of the four existing counties, and the seat of government would be located at a new point, which would be the center of the new county.

The King County is one of the most important in the state, and the new county would be a valuable addition to the state's land holdings. The new county would be well-suited for agricultural and other purposes, and the people of the area would benefit from the establishment of the new county.

The King County Board of Commissioners has already passed a resolution in favor of the new county, and the matter is now before the legislature. The legislature is expected to pass the resolution, and the new county will be formed in the near future.

OUR PUBLIC LANDS.

The Most Important Proposition For a Constitutional Amendment.

Second Section of the Compromise Treaty, and a larger grant, which has to do with the disposition of the public lands, has been the subject of much discussion. The proposition has been referred to the committees of the House and Senate, and the matter has been under consideration for several months.

The proposition is as follows:

First, all the public lands of the United States, both in the west and east, shall be disposed of by the General Government, and sold at public auction, and the proceeds shall be applied to the payment of the public debt.

Second, the public lands shall be disposed of by the General Government, and the proceeds shall be applied to the payment of the public debt.

Third, the public lands shall be disposed of by the General Government, and the proceeds shall be applied to the payment of the public debt.

Fourth, the public lands shall be disposed of by the General Government, and the proceeds shall be applied to the payment of the public debt.

The proposition has been referred to the committees of the House and Senate, and the matter has been under consideration for several months. The proposition has been the subject of much discussion, and the matter has been under consideration for several months. The proposition has been the subject of much discussion, and the matter has been under consideration for several months.

Our experience in the management of public lands has been the subject of much discussion, and the matter has been under consideration for several months. The proposition has been the subject of much discussion, and the matter has been under consideration for several months. The proposition has been the subject of much discussion, and the matter has been under consideration for several months.